

The institution adheres to the curriculum (CBCS) specified by the home university, incorporating both theory exams and internal assessments into students' evaluations.

To gauge student performance, the institution administers home assignments, tests, presentations, and seminars. The test results are promptly declared and communicated to students through WhatsApp groups. Consequently, there is minimal room for grievances among the students concerning the evaluation process.

For addressing external examination-related grievances, the institution has instituted a student-friendly mechanism. It ensures transparent and time-bound resolution of such concerns, advising students to adhere to university procedures. In cases of undervaluation, students are guided on procedures for challenging assessments and resolving issues related to university theory examinations. Additionally, the staff oversees the proper online completion of university examination forms.
